MIDSHIPMEN HAVE POWERFUL ELEVEN

With Little Training Time, Team Has Piled Up Big Scores

One of the strangest features of the present eastern college football season is the spectacle of the United States Naval and Military Academies turning out the strongest eleven in several seasons while much larger institutions are unable to support teams according to official statements owing to the pressure of war work among the students. Under normal conditions the Sailors and Soldiers have but scanty time for gridiron training as compared with the periods devoted to football work by the average college and university squad. That the two Academies should be able to put such powerful combinations on the field as those which represent the Army and Navy this season is little short of remarkable.

That such is the case, however, is amply proved by the records for the season up to the close of the month of October. In this period of about five weeks of play the Middies have run up a total of 238 points in five games, and lead all the other eastern eleven in this respect by a comfortable margin. The Cadets have not been quite so active in this respect, being tied with the University of Pennsylvania for fifth place.

The Navy also possesses in Ingraham the best individual scorer to date among the teams of the same section. Ingraham has collected 105 points as his contribution to the success of the Middies eleven. His nearest competitor, strange to say, is Oliphant of the Army, who has scored 86 points. In both these cases the scores were made through touchdowns and goals from touchdowns alone. In all around scoring McCright of Washington and Jefferson and Meehan of Syracuse are the leaders. McCright has scored four touchdowns; six goals from touchdowns, and four field goals. Meehan has collected four touchdowns, seven goals from touchdowns and two field goals.

U. S. CALLS EXPERTS

Government to Use Trap Shooters As Tutors For Soldiers in Rifle Practice—Amateurs to Retain Standing.

New York, Nov. 10.—Uncle Sam is making expert trap shooters to teach the soldiers the fine points of the game. This became known yesterday at the annual convention of the Interstate Association of Trap Shooters in the Hotel Astor. It was announced at the meeting that the Government has requested the association to furnish it with a list of gunners who would make good instructors at the various aviation and cantonment centers. There are eighty-four of these centers in this country.

The association has sent the names of more than 200 experts to Washington. It also has sent 1,500,000 blue rocks to the camps and a like number of clay birds to France. They will be used for the training of the soldiers and incidentally to keep the boys shooting eyes in training for sniping and other sharp work in the trenches. It was decided at yesterday's meeting that any amateur called into the United States service would not lose his amateur standing, even if he does receive remuneration for his work of teaching soldiers how to shoot.

NOT TO BUY THE AMERICA.

Mr. Thomas Lipton Satisfied if Craft Will Be Preserved.

Boston, Nov. 10.—Sir Thomas Lipton, who had expressed a desire to purchase the schooner yacht America, cabled the owners yesterday that since being advised that it was their intention to preserve the historic craft, he had no further interest in the matter. The message was in reply to one sent from the owners asking for what purpose Sir Thomas wanted to buy the America.

EMPIRES VS. MOHAWKS.

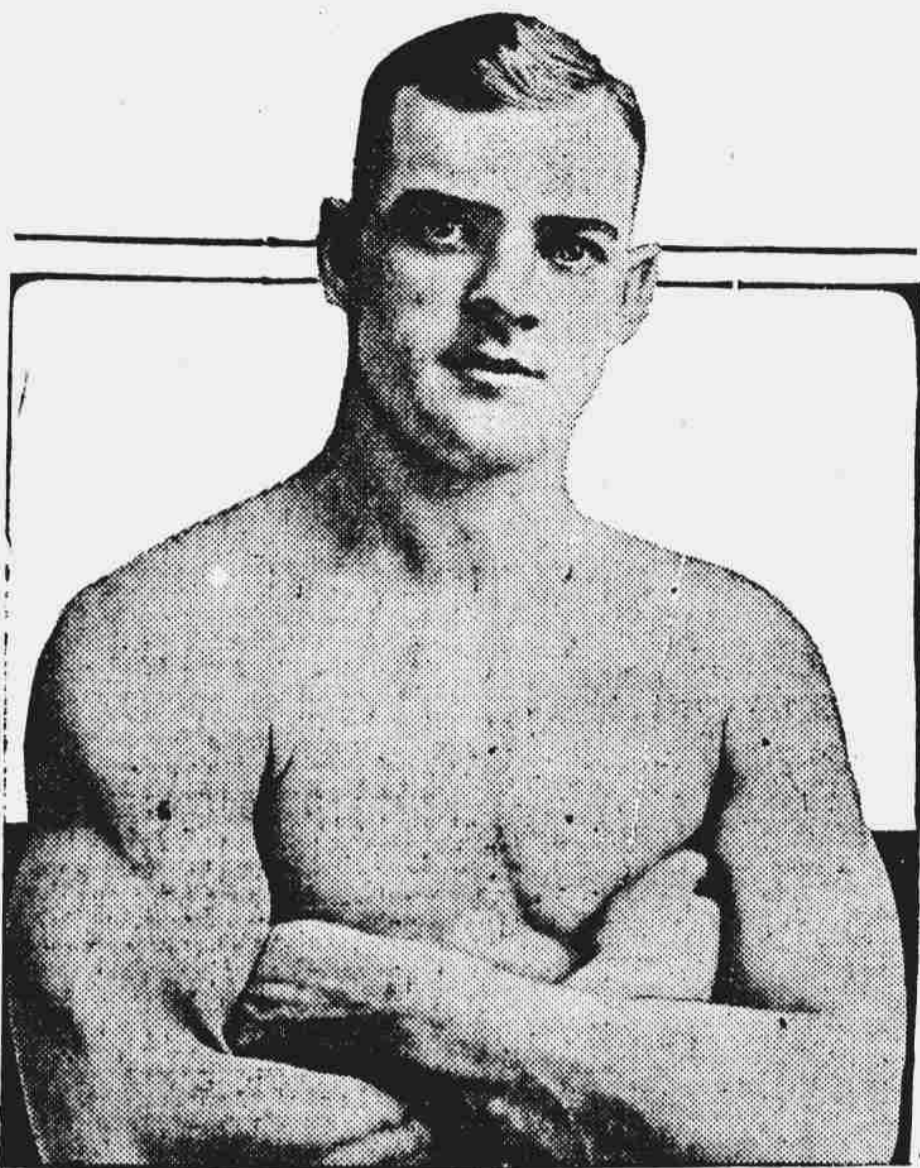

The fast Empires football eleven of this city will line up against the Mohawks of Meriden tomorrow afternoon at the Newington road gridiron. The visitors are touted as one of the crack teams of the Silver City and it is expected that they will force the locals to their top speed.

MIXED BOAT WINS RACE.

Senior-Junior Crew Takes Feature in Princeton Regatta.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 10.—Princeton's fall rowing season was brought to a close here yesterday afternoon with the annual fall regatta. In a driving finish the senior-junior boat just nosed out the freshman eight in the feature race of the event. The upper classmen had an advantage of about a length at the end over the freshmen, while the sophomore boat was third. A mixed crew of men from the three upper classes brought up the rear. The race was over the Henley distance and was covered in 8:04.25.

The sophomores took the lead, but were soon passed by the senior-junior boat. The freshman got off to a poor start, and probably would have won had it not been for this, for they threatened the leading boats all the way. This race was preceded by a contest in which four freshman crews in gigs competed over a mile course.

WESTERN LEAGUE READY TO FIGHT

Hickey Has Teams to Supplant Those Going to Proposed League

Chicago, Nov. 10.—The American association is ready to place teams in Indianapolis, Louisville and Toledo, if these clubs decide to withdraw and merge with certain clubs of the International league, President Hickey of the American association said last night. Negotiations have been closed with men with the necessary capital, he said.

George Tebeau, who only recently sold the Kansas City club, said he would attend the association meeting in Louisville next Monday prepared to accept a franchise in any of the three cities.

"I thought I was out of baseball, but this is too good a proposition to pass up," Tebeau said. "I might have to lose $50,000 getting started, but a franchise would be worth it."

Indianapolis, Nov. 10.—The Western league will fight any movement for a third major league, which provides for the American association taking over any Western league territory, according to E. W. Dickerson, president of the Western league, who was here yesterday on his way to Louisville to attend the meeting next week of the National association, the governing body of minor league baseball. The Western league will meet in Louisville on Sunday, and President Dickerson said the president of every club in the league will be in attendance.

"The talk of a third major league, considering present business conditions, is all bosh," said Mr. Dickerson. "Instead of a new league there is more likely to be a curtailing of leagues."

"The fact that the Western league has the same rights in the protection of its territory that are enjoyed by the American association and other leagues covered by organized baseball seems to have been overlooked. The Western league will be in the field next year, stronger than ever."

MOONEY TRACK CAPTAIN.

Middletown, Nov. 10.—The Wesleyan track team has chosen Wandell M. Mooney, of Paterson, N. J., as captain to succeed Lawrence E. Williams, of Geneva, N. Y., who left college last month to join the Naval Reserves. Mooney is a member of the senior class and of the Psi Upsilon fraternity.

BATTLE TO A DRAW

Coffey and Brennan Fight Fast Ten-Round Exhibition at Harlem S. C. Roscommon Giant Shows Gameness.

New York, Nov. 10.—Jim Coffey, the Dublin giant, and Bill Brennan, the heavyweight bruiser of Chicago, fought a fast ten-round draw at the Harlem Sporting club last night. It was one of the most interesting heavyweight mills of the season.

Coffey showed remarkable gameness, stamina and punishing power. Early in the fight Brennan had the Roscommon behemoth in a very bad way. In the third round Brennan connected with a wicked right swing to the jaw that shook Irish Jim and almost dropped him to his knees. Again in the sixth big James was sick from Brennan's vicious right firmly planted on the chin.

But Coffey was in excellent condition and, even in his most extreme danger was always cool and collected and apparently self-confident. He took all Brennan had without breaking ground, even eager at times to stop one with any part of his anatomy for the privilege of a return shot.

It looked, after the third round, as if Coffey would be lucky to stick the limit. His right eye was cut badly in the very first round, and this for a time affected his aim. He was wild with his leads. At the beginning of the second round Coffey put a hard right to Brennan's jaw that rocked the Windy City lad back on his heels. But Brennan returned the compliment with 100 per cent interest. His heavy right hand smashes to the jaw had big Jim shaking at the knees when the bell rang.

Coffey, however, had a new trick up his sleeve, that not only retrieved his poor start, but almost eliminated Brennan by the knock-out route as well. This was a right uppercut to the body following a left lead. Jim used it repeatedly and connected, apparently, at will.

The severe body punches not only slowed up Brennan, but took most of the sting out of Bill's wallop. Coffey was the stronger and more aggressive at the end.

YANKS' NEW LEADER TO HOOVERIZE TEAM

Training Table to Supplant Festive Board in Huggins' Idea

New York, Nov. 10.—When the Yankees go to Macon, Ga., next spring on their training trip under Manager Miller Huggins, a brand-new wrinkle in professional baseball will be placed on a diet. Little attention has been given in the past to conditioning baseball players except on the baseball field; but this year the Yanks will also be trained in the dining rooms. Most ball players have ferocious appetites and, as a rule, they eat long and often. Secretary Harry Sparrow has been elected chief of the training table, and he has already arranged the different menu cards for the players.

The reason why some of the players had poor days on the ball field last season was because of too much eating of fancy dishes at the noon-day meals. If a player sits down just before a ball game and helps himself to a young banquet, he isn't especially spry on the ball field. More than one ball player has eaten himself out of the major leagues by living too high. Major league baseball clubs nowadays stop at the best hotels, and oftentimes when the players invade the dining rooms, the daily restaurant takes on the proportions of a barbecue. Ball players, like all other mortals, are apt to eat too much.

The food conservation plans of Secretary Sparrow come at a time to bring delight to Herbert Hoover, although that gentleman has had nothing to do with the diet scheme of the Yankees. If Mr. Hoover had ever witnessed a batch of hungry baseball players approaching their frugal meals, he might have something important to say.

What Mr. Sparrow hopes to do is to steer the ball players into a diet of plain, wholesome food. All the dishes with the long fancy French names will go into the discard. The appetites of the players will be teased with dishes such as adorn the home board. The training table will be fashioned after the training tables which are in vogue for college athletes. One of the items on the breakfast menu is the time-honored dish of prunes. Cereals also have a conspicuous place. The noon-day lunch is lighter than usual and consists of only plain foods. The dinner bill is plain but substantial. It contains no elaborate dishes, but has been arranged to satisfy the highly charged call of the inner man which comes after a hard day on the ball field. Roast beef, corned beef and cabbage, and spring lamb are among the meats on the dinner menu, while the famous trio of stews—beef, lamb, and Irish—are among those present. Meatless and wheatless days also have their places on the eating program.

MEDIOCRE RACING CARD

Judge Wingfield Wins Feature Event Yesterday at Pimlico—Favorite Scores in Junior Steeplechase.

Pimlico, Md., Nov. 10.—It was rather an ordinary card that the Maryland Jockey Club served up at Pimlico yesterday afternoon. The Pimlico Autumn Selling stake was the special feature and went to the credit of W. L. Oliver's Judge Wingfield, which got up at the end of the mile and a quarter journey and beat out Vermont, the strong favorite.

Of secondary importance was the Junior steeplechase. This developed into a stirring finish between W. R. Coe's Gold Bond, the favorite at prohibitive odds, and Big Four, one of the outsiders. The favorite scored by the narrowest of margins after running head and head with his rival for the last three quarters.

The talent made no mistake in the race for horses ridden by jockeys that had never before piloted a winner. The contest went to Lazy Lou with Stalker up. Lazy Lou was an odds on choice.

George Starr repeated in the opener his victory of a few days ago, making a show of his opposition.

The free claiming handicap at six furlongs that was carded as the fourth race resulted in a surprise, victory going to Amalgamator, a stable mate of the great Omar Khayyam. Amalgamator was at long odds and got up and won by a head in a close finish with Kathryn Gray and Star Finch.

FIVE TEAMS TIED.

Boston, Nov. 10.—Five teams had covered 979 miles 3 laps at 10 o'clock last night in the six day bike race here. These leading teams were Spears-Spencer of Boston, Magin-Hanley of Newark, Madden-Corry, Australian American; Thomas-Lawrence of San Francisco and Drobach-Piercy of Boston.

The Grimm-Sullivan team of New Haven was one lap behind while three other teams, Caren-Sith of Newark, Eaton-Cameron of New York and Bowker brothers of Lynn were three laps behind the field.

EASY FOR PENN STATE CUBS.

State College, Penn., Nov. 10.—The Pennsylvania State freshman football team easily defeated the Syracuse University freshmen here yesterday, 40 to 0.
